"Light"

This work of art embodies the light in all its facets.

Light is not constant, it changes permanently.

Depending on your viewing point, some parts shine brighter and stronger, where others have a more calming and modest effect.

This work underlines the realization in an impressive way, this is due to its use of matt satin iridescent coating.

Depending on the fall of light and viewing point, the observer will experience a variety of reflections, such as warm yellow shadows and refreshing tones of orange colors.

A work of art made out of glass, in which you always can find new highlights.
